

COURSE SYLLABUS

Reduce College Costs and Help Protect Your Retirement Assets

Course Description

This course provides fundamental knowledge of the college planning process and how it applies to your long-term financial strategy. You will learn how to navigate the admissions process, access financial aid, and how strategic college funding concepts may help align tuition planning with your broader retirement goals.

In this course, you'll learn:

1. The importance of “good-fit” institutions that align with both your student’s academic passions and your long-term wealth preservation goals.
2. Strategy and timing best practices for admissions and aid eligibility.
3. The role of FAFSA and CSS forms, including what they are, what they report, their critical deadlines, and how they’re used in specific need formulas.
4. The pros and cons of public versus private universities and colleges.
5. How funding strategies and asset positioning can help lower tuition costs and support your retirement goals.

COURSE TOPICS

- ✓ Avenues for Financial Aid
- ✓ How College Admissions Work
- ✓ FAFSA & CSS Basics
- ✓ How to Maximize Financial Aid Eligibility
- ✓ Private vs Public Colleges
- ✓ Balancing College Funding and Your Retirement

Additional Course Information

Workbook

To maximize the value of the course, you will receive a supplemental workbook that delivers essential information and includes space to write down any notes or questions.

Participation

This course is interactive, and participation is encouraged but optional. However, if you seek answers about your college planning strategy, this course is most valuable if you follow the interactive workbook and participate in the classroom discussions as you feel comfortable.

Instructors

AFES instructors bring professional experience from the financial services industry to the classroom and enhance the course with real-world examples.

Advisor Name

AFES Instructor

Phone: 800-866-8666

Email: john.smith@compassallies.com

Adult Financial Education Services (AFES) is a national not-for-profit organization that is dedicated to improving financial literacy for those nearing and in retirement. AFES has educated thousands of individuals and families from coast-to-coast on topics including Social Security, taxes, and retirement planning strategies. AFES instructors are active professionals in the financial services industry and have the appropriate training and licensing to discuss the topics presented in each course. AFES courses are strictly educational and are designed to provide participants with objective information that will aid them in making sound financial decisions for their financial futures. For more information about AFES, please visit www.afes.org. This course is not endorsed or approved by the Social Security Office or any other Government Agency. This course is designed to provide general information on the subjects covered. Pursuant to IRS Circular 230, it is not intended to provide specific legal or tax advice and cannot be used to avoid penalties or to promote, market, or recommend any tax plan or arrangement. You are encouraged to consult your personal tax advisor or attorney.